

CONSCIENCE

Synonyms: principles, scruples, moral standards, conscientious

Your strongly spiritual outlook (and that doesn't necessarily mean religious) suggests a strict conscience. It probably feels as if someone is always looking over your shoulder, making sure that you do what you are supposed to do. And when you feel you have failed in some area, it is that inner parent that constrains you do some form of private atonement.

It seems that you are very satisfied with the moral principles that you have acquired to this point in your life and are not interested in exploring any new avenues.

An independent thinker, you are comfortable with your own ethics and standards.

This individual sees life in terms of black/white, good/evil, with nothing in between. He can be harsh and judgmental, with a spartan outlook that he tries to impose on those close to him.

You have a well-developed set of personal principles by which you live, but at the same time, are broad-minded and open to other ideas.

You have retained the ideals and principles that have been with you since childhood and are quite satisfied with those standards. Nonetheless, your interest in intellectual pursuits allows you to explore and examine other paths.

You strive for harmony in life, avoiding conflict whenever possible. But you're not afraid to stand your ground on principles.

Because your pleasant exterior cloaks an inner steadfastness, people are sometimes misled into thinking you are a pushover.

He is conscientious in maintaining a high standard of quality control. Careful not to make snap judgments, he feels strongly about doing things according to rules.

He is careful not to over-commit and is conscientious about completing one task before taking on another.

Open to just about anything, you welcome the opportunity to explore new paths and alternative lifestyles.

Although he is well organized, he takes on many assignments and must work hard to meet all commitments. His strongly conscientious nature ensures that he will do his best in all circumstances.

Always willing to listen, you don't mind exploring alternative paths and considering options.

A hard worker who can be counted on always to give his best efforts, this applicant is scrupulous in carrying out his duties.

It appears as if you may have grown up with parenting that included the liberal use of guilt as a controlling factor. Now, even as an adult, it is hard for you to turn off those old 'tapes' that keep playing in your head.