

EXTRAVAGANT

Synonyms: lavish, immoderate, liberal, excessive

The generous extravagant side of your nature may be tempered by the cautious need to save money.

Generous to a fault, she welcomes others with open arms and shares whatever resources she has.

Being called a big spender suits his style, as he is very generous with his time and resources.

It probably doesn't bother her to charge her credit cards up to their limit or write checks that just may bounce.

She loves to lavish extravagant gifts on the ones she loves, whether or not the money is available.

His hearty appetite for the good things in life urges him to spend, spend, spend. With a less profligate mate, he could generate a great deal of anxiety.

With her tendency towards extravagance, it would be important for her to have some sort of controls over her spending habits.

Subject to temptations of one kind or another, he is inclined to be impulsive and give in to his internal demands. Unfortunately, he is also likely to give in to pressure from others.

The type who likes to fill his home with friends having a good time, he willingly shares what he has.