

Human Experience

Hx

≥1

....self-image is made up of imagined qualities rather than real experiences.

....their sense of self is often illusory.

....the value they place on themselves as well as their true self-image is largely imaginary.

....poorly crafted decisions and mistaken attempts at problem solving arise from little awareness or anticipation of the consequences of their actions.

....strongly inclined to act before they think.

(Exner 1991, p. 176)