

PROCRASTINATOR

Synonyms: hesitant, apprehensive, insecure, uncertain, perfectionist, indecisive, irresolute, vacillating

In many instances she is undecided about her plans and tends to put off making firm decisions.

Procrastination causes her to put things off until the last minute.

Even though he may be anxious to begin, he puts off making decisions and tends to change his mind frequently.

Being reluctant to make decisions, he is less able to keep commitments and establish himself on a definite course of action.

Your need to put off starting new projects or making decisions might be seen as a way of maintaining your sense of control. In other words, you will decide for yourself when you will or will not respond.

A fear of making the wrong move is causing you to procrastinate taking any action at all. You may feel paralyzed, incapacitated, stuck in one spot.

By staying ambivalent and not making a definite decision, everything becomes meaningless. If you don't commit to a goal, then you cannot be judged by someone who doesn't approve of your choice.

It is because he likes to leave things open-ended that it is hard for him to get started in the first place.